Patent Rights.

The question of amending the patent laws of the country, so as to give protection to the innocent purchaser and user of articles, claimed to be patented, has been so often considered by this body, that it would seem unnecessary to refer to it again, were it not that the House of Representatives at the recent session of congress, passed at Peoria, St. Louis, or Leavenworth a bill, of which the committee on patents said:

"Much complaint has grown up in the country from the practice of persons owning patents, or pretending to own them, allowing the use of an article sometimes for years, and then sending an agent around and demanding damages from the holders of the drawn the substitute so as to protect the innocent purchaser of a patented the open market, from such annoyance. Let such action be taken as may be deemed necessary to call the attention of the senate to this import-

The influence exerted by the water is manifest in the fact that the more closely you bring a given locality under the influence of the breezes from lakes, the more effectually the climate is modified. For instance, in different localities the temperature differs according to the situation of the places in relation to water; thus, from the greater prevalence of western winds, sweeping over the waters to the eastern side of the lake, Grand Haven has a winter mean of 26 degrees, while just across

AFTER USING.

Prepared by an entirely NEW METHOD, Composed of the PUREST MATERIALS. WILL NOT INJURE THE FARRIC. WILL CLEANSE WITHOUT RUBBING.

You can do a large washing without any rubbing; use the boiling process instead. You can save 'Firme, Labor, Fuel, Soap and Clothing.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE.

Cut up fine and dissolve one half bar in half gallon of hot water. Pour half this dissolved soap into a tub with just sufficient hot water to cover a boiler full of clothes. Then put the clothes in to soak, rubbing plenty of soap in the most soiled parts. Be sure that the soaking water is hot; soak the clothes balf an hour; stir them occasionally so that they may got the full benefit of the hot sude; pour the remainder of the dissolved soap into the builer, adding sufficient water to cover the clothes; wring them lightly out of the suds. Soap the stai mod spots and place loosely in the boiler; boil so to so minutes, rinse well, blue and lang todry. Bo not crowd the boiler too full. The same boiling water may be used for farther boiling by adding a little soap to each boiler-full of clothes. Fannels and prints should not be boiled, only a little rubbing required after soaking. This soap will cleanse clothing as thoroughly as any other without the use of the boiler. We prefer and recommend the boiling process as in itself a cleansing process, saving labor, the wear of the wash-board, and being the best disinfectent known, it is ensier to boil the dirt out than to rub it out. You can cleanse perfectly the finest fabric withent injury; the finest paint lace and lace curtains. Soak point lace in hot ands made with this soap, rinse theroughly, great carefully between the folds of a towel, roll in a dry towel, and lend between places of old flammel. Soak curtains to to go minutes and boil 5 to so minutes, rinse, stretch on frame, or pin every scalled to carpet over a sheet to dry; no ironing required.

Be sure and ask for ELECTHIC-LEGET SOAP, and take no other.
